

Andrew Spector, MD is an associate professor and Vice Chair of Inclusion, Diversity, and Empowerment at the Duke University Department of Neurology where he is also the sleep medicine fellowship director and neurology residency associate program director. He serves as an associate editor for Neurology Today and is the current chair of the American Academy of Sleep Medicine's Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Committee. Dr. Spector is a member of the American Academy of Neurology's Diversity Officers Workgroup and a founding member of the AAN's Underrepresented in Neurology Section. In 2018, he co-founded the Society of Black Neurologists which has grown to over 250 members.