

Dr. Erica A. Schuyler, MD, FAAN, FANA obtained her medical degree at The Johns Hopkins University in 2003 followed by neurology residency and epilepsy fellowship at University of Michigan. She joined Hartford Hospital and the UConn faculty in 2009. She has been Neurology Residency Director for 11 years and she is an Associate Professor of Neurology at UConn and the Associate Chief of Education at Hartford Hospital. She is the current chair of the AAN Consortium of Neurology Program Directors and serves on the AAN Graduate Education Subcommittee, with recent work focusing on reforming the fellowship application timeline, helping programs with their transition to virtual recruitment, and advocacy for support of IMG physicians.