

Clotilde Hainline is the Associate Clerkship Director at the University of New Mexico School of Medicine in Albuquerque, New Mexico, a role she started in February 2020. She is an Assistant Professor of Neurology and Ophthalmology at UNM, with a clinical focus on Neuro-immunology and Neuro-ophthalmology. Dr. Hainline completed medical school at Stony Brook University, neurology residency at Albert Einstein College of Medicine, and a combined fellowship in Multiple Sclerosis and Neuro-Ophthalmology at NYU. Prior to her role at UNM, Dr. Hainline was faculty at Boston University.