

Heather MacLean, Senior Director of Development, leads philanthropic efforts to support the Department of Neurology, Department of Neurosurgery, and Neuroscience Institute at NYU Langone Health. In collaboration with leadership and faculty, recent philanthropic gifts have been secured to support clinical and translational research, clinical service expansion, subspecialty fellowship positions, educational lectures, and to create a multi-disciplinary research program.

Prior to joining NYU Langone, Heather held major gift fundraising positions at Northwell Health, Massachusetts General Hospital, and Holland Bloorview Kids Rehabilitation Hospital Foundation. She is passionate about finding creative ways to connect donors with the clinical or research areas that are most meaningful to them and brings unique experience in both the Canadian and United States healthcare systems to her roles. In a previous life, Heather was a sought-after orchestral and chamber musician, as well as arts administrator, leveraging her B.M. in Music Performance.
