

Igor Rybinnik graduated from SUNY Downstate Medical School in Brooklyn, NY and completed his internship and Neurology residency at the same institution, followed by a Vascular Neurology fellowship at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, PA. He holds the title of an associate professor at the division of Stroke and Neurocritical care, in the department of Neurology at Rutgers Robert Wood Johnson Medical School in New Brunswick, NJ. Dr. Rybinnik has served as the Neurology Clerkship director at Rutgers Robert Wood Johnson Medical School since 2014. His research interests include educational design, active learning and flipped classroom approach to education, and management of acute ischemic and hemorrhagic stroke.