

Haatem Reda completed his neurology residency training at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, MN, and fellowships at Lahey Clinic and Massachusetts General Hospital in clinical neurophysiology and autoimmune and infectious neurologic diseases, respectively. He joined the faculty at MGH in 2014 and directs the Harvard Medical School clerkship in neurology at MGH as well as the Advanced General and Autoimmune Neurology fellowship program at MGH.